Written exams on site – additional information (protection concept, spare computers)

Dear students,

I'd like to inform you about spare computers, body temperature measurements and mask dispensation regarding the written examinations. If you have any questions, please contact your director of studies.

Spare computers

If you have problems with your computer during the written examination, please contact the examination oversight. Spare computers are available at the examination sites.

Measurement of body temperature

As part of the protection concept for the written examinations, body temperature ("fever measurement") will be measured in the entrance area. If a student has an elevated body temperature, this student will take the examination under supervision in a separate room.

Mask dispensation

Students must submit the mask dispensation to the emergency department (notfall@fhgr.ch) at least 1 week in advance of the semester examinations. A certificate from a doctor or psychotherapist is required. Students with mask dispensation write the examination under supervision in a separate room.

Currently, no tests are required for students with mask dispensation. The UAS Grisons reserves the right to request additional tests for students with mask dispensation.

Kind regards

Prof. Martin Studer, Prorector
