KNOW LESS, LEARN MORE

Company: ONE PM AG

Location: Erlenbach ZH, Switzerland

Position: Allround FinTech Internship – Business-Analysis to IT-Development
(6M, 60-100%)

Start: immediately or by arrangement

We are:

ONE PM - an aspiring fintech company, building a cutting-edge application to revolutionize multi-banking asset management and financial data processing & interpretation. we are developing fast and need help turning our vision into reality!

You are:

a young, driven, ambitious, diligent, proactive and creative mind that wants to experience real startup life and is motivated & ready to contribute to disrupt the financial industry. your studies in any type of field are ongoing or recently completed. high technical affinity, a structured & independent way-of-working and some sense for usability are more important than your background.

Your task:

while developing fast on our core applications & features and servicing our clients, there remains a ton of work all around it. this ranges from tasks in the area of marketing over ad-hoc business analysis to rather development-oriented topics that may include application and/or API testing, content generation for our “knowledge-base”, website maintenance and cultivating our demo-environment.

We offer you:

- versatile and demanding tasks that allow for a broad insight into our business
- to be part of a young, motivated team of top talent
- to take on responsibility and to contribute to the development of a fintech company
- the possibility to learn about all aspects of our business
- a fun & friendly work environment

You bring along:

- ongoing or completed studies in any field and/or relevant work experience
- interest in app development & asset management, no specific knowledge is required
- curiosity & willingness to learn, not afraid to acquire additional skills if needed
- fluency in English, German (optional)
- the capacity to adapt to a fast-paced and changing environment

Sparked your interest?

please send us relevant information about you, your ambitions & achievements and why you are the right fit to complete our team.
